THE KNIGHTS KNEW HIM.

General Harrison posing as the champion of American labor against the cheap labor of Europe is a spectacle to make angels weep. A man who would think his blue blood might clog in his veins if he spoke to a working man otherwise than as a mental is not the kind of a man to command the respect of laboring men, who in America are the equals of the highest official in the matters of respectability and "blood." Pedigree is the last thing that counts with the honest sons of toil, and these latter are the men who, by their votes, rule the United States. It is also occasion for wonder and surprise that the party that has made General Harrison its standard-bearer can have the impudence to profess love for American labor when every ship from the old world brings to this country "pauper laborers" who are brought here by the protected mine and mill-owners of the east to compete with citizen workers. Before his nomination General Harrison thought it beneath his dignity to befriend laborers, and he is on record in more than one place as an enemy to Americans who toil with their hands. His present professions do not tickle the ears nor blunt the memories of the working people, who, in the language of the day, are "onto him." The Knights of Labor of District Assembly No. 106, which includes all the territory within a radius of fifty miles with Indianapolis as a center, have been taking action in the case of General Harrison. If any workingmen know the Republican candidate, those of his neighborhood must be the ones. At the regular August meeting last week the Assembly adopted the following, which tells pretty plainly the esteem in which the gentleman is held and how they regard his professions of love and consideration for working men.

WHEREAS, We are enjoined by our order to support, at the polls, our friends, and punish our enemies, and

WHEREAS, Benjamin Harrison, in the following manner, has antagonized the order of K. of L. to wit: He voted against the bills to exclude Chinese, while our general assembly at Richmond declared unequivocally against Chinese immigration, and demanded the abrogation of the existing treaty.

He voted against the bill sanctioned by this order to place the letter carriers under the provisions of the eight-hour law.

In 1877, while attorney for a railway interested in the failure of a strike of that year, he assumed to act as arbitrator, thus going to the laboring men with fair promises, at the same time being in the employ of a leading antagonist.

While acting as a railway attorney, he accepted the position of United States Senator, and aided the passage of laws in the interest of his employers. Therefore, be it

Resolved, That we reaffirm the feeling of a district expressed by the laboring men of the State during the Senatorial contest two years ago, and pledge ourselves to use every honorable means to secure the defeat of said Benjamin Harrison at the polls in November next.

This action does not surprise the Indiana community. The people there are familiar with the attitude of Gen. Harrison towards workingmen. The firm opposition of the Knights of Labor and other organized bodies of workmen resulted in his defeat for re-election to the Senate two years ago, and that opposition will help to bury him out of sight next November.

If SECRETARY LITCHMAN, of the Knights of Labor, who sent a blistering letter to Senator Quay the other day, announcing his intention to vote the Republican ticket, thinks he will carry the order with him, he is doomed to disappointment, and the money which the Republican committee pay him for his services will be cash thrown away. As a rule the Knights are intelligent men. They do not take their politics from their officers; if they did they would all be Republicans as in politics Mr. Powderly is an open, outspoken member of that party. A majority of the Knights are Democrats, because Democratic principles and practices are in harmony with the ideas of the intelligent masses. The Democratic party is a party of the people, and is opposed to aristocracy, in which particulars it differs from the Republican party which believes in and encourages class distinction and delights in pedigree. As in the past, it will be seen that the majority of the Knights will vote with the party which recognizes labor as honorable, and knows no political or social difference between the honest laborer and the man of millions.

PATRICK EGAN, the Irish agitator, has been employed by the Republican committee to lead Irishmen to vote for Harrison. Mr. Egan is a very fit person to instruct American citizens how to vote, considering that he has not yet been in the country long enough to get his naturalization paper.

BARKING UP THE WRONG TREE.

By yesterday's mail a well-known woolen manufacturing firm of this city received the following circular letter. On the outside of the envelope was written the word "private."

HEADQUARTERS REPUBLICAN LEAGUE of the United States, No. 235 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

My Dear Sir:—If you believe in the Mills tariff bill which has just passed the Democratic House of Representatives, throw this letter in your waste basket. If, on the contrary, you realize that the interests of the manufacturer and the laborer are with the party which stands for protection to home industries, I ask you to co-operate with the Republican League of the United States. Unless great effort is made in the next three months there is danger that Grover Cleveland will be re-elected and with him a Congress that will have no further reason to dispense its real favors, and the next tariff bill will go ten times as far as prudence permitted the Democrats to go in the Mills bill.

The League, which was organized last December, now has over six thousand clubs, containing three-quarters of a million members. Its growth is unprecedented in the history of politics. Its officers will leave nothing undone to secure the election of Harrison and Morton and a Republican Congress.

We propose to make a through canvass in the workshop and the home; to furnish every voter with the ablest arguments in favor of protection; to hold public meetings day and night in every place where workingmen can be found; to take extraordinary precautions to prevent fraudulent collection and voting in New York, New Jersey, Connecticut and Indiana (which are favorably situated for such "Democratic Reform" movements), and in fact to use every legal means to prevent the consummation in power of the party that seeks to throw down the barrier of protection and flood our markets with the products of cheap European labor, which would close our manufacturing and throw hundreds of thousands of our workmen out of employment.

All we ask of you is a small contribution. We have the organization now. Give us the means and we will do our duty. A check of the accompanying document will convince you that we make no idle boasts. Immediate action is necessary. Will you aid us, be it ever so little, to take action? You can make no better investment than a subscription to the League, and we do not ask you to do anything that you cannot afford to do, taking into consideration the other calls upon you.

Very truly yours,
JAMES F. FOSTER,
President.

Accompanying the letter is a list of iron, woolen and other manufacturers, and prominent Republicans who have contributed from $10 to $500 each to the League fund. Also a list of the States, with the number of Republican clubs in each that are members of the League [It may be remarked that the letter will get no response. The firm to which it was addressed is made up of staunch Democrats, who believe in all the doctrines of the party, including cheap blankets and cheap clothes for the working people.]

THE VERMONT election is not a circumstance for either party to go wild over. Democrats in that State are about as numerous as hen's teeth, and the only question to be settled there at any time when an election is on is as to what the size of the Republican majority will be. It seems that this time, with a largely increased vote, the Republicans have not increased their majority, which indicates that the baker's dozen of Democrats in each of the voting precincts of the State have been reinforced to the extent of about one or two. Vermont has given as high as 30,000 Republican majority, or thereabout, when there were not nearly so many voters as now; and at this writing it seems as if 20,000 or very little more would have to satisfy them. The Dutch capturing Holland is not a matter of sufficient concern to base an opinion upon.

A REPUBLICAN editor thinks he has made a point by saying that "England gave Ireland free wool and it killed Irish sheep." Why didn't he continue in this line and tell the whole truth? When England gave Ireland free wool, she gave herself free wool, under the same conditions; if the arrangement killed Irish sheep why did it not also kill those of England? England is a very small country, no larger than some American counties, and yet England has 30,000,000 sheep, and her wool clip is worth as much as the whole of that of the United States. Free wool for England has not interfered with the wool-growing industry, but it has given the English people cheap clothes.

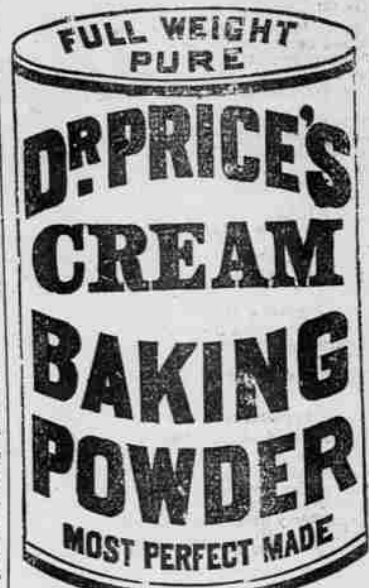

UTAH is getting so many political parties that at the rate we are going there will soon be a whole party for every fellow. But numerous as are these organizations, it has seemingly not occurred to any of them that in two months there will be an election for Delegate to Congress. Pretty nearly everywhere else the Congressional nominations have been made, and the campaigns are well along, but in Utah not even a primary has been held, and everybody is at sea as to candidates. Gentlemen, "get a move on you," and let us know who are to be defeated and who is to be elected.

THE REPUBLICANS are trying to find comfort in the circumstance that New York, in a Presidential canvass, has never within the past quarter of a century given its electoral vote to the same party twice in succession. Thus, in 1864 the State was Republican, in 1868 Democratic, in 1872 Republican, in 1876 Democratic, in 1880 Republican and in 1884 Democratic. There are exceptions to all rules, and this year will bring an exception to the New York rule.

THE FORT WORTH (Tex.) Gazette quotes Voltaire very effectively against the Republican presidential candidate, who banks so heavily on his pedigree: "Whoever serves his country well has no need of grandfathers."

THE VERY best evidence of the fact that the Democrats of Idaho are conducting a winning campaign is the frantic desperation of the Republicans. The organs of the latter are fairly wild with rage, telling too plainly that they see certain defeat for their ticket and death for their party. Democratic triumph now means that fair Idaho will go into the Union as a Democratic State. The Republicans are aware of this, hence their fury. With the kindest of feelings for our friends the enemy, THE HERALD suggests to them the propriety of not rending their linen. Inasmuch as there must be a funeral for which the Republicans will act as corpse, the ceremonies will be less painful if the corpse will behave in the regulation, orthodox manner.

MR. JOHN H. BASS, of Fort Wayne, Ind., is one of the most extensive manufacturers in the country, employing 2,500 men, making pig iron, boilers, engines and machinery. He is a successful business man, and is well liked by his employees. It may interest the Republicans to learn that Mr. Bass has declared himself for the Mills bill and Cleveland, Thurman and tariff reform.
